DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Information Disclosure Statement

2. The information disclosure statement (IDS) submitted on 9/29/2005 has been considered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 1-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claim 1, the term "medium" is not clear, whether the recreational board travelling across a surface or a medium.

Regarding claim 1, it is unclear whether, the term "board" in line 3, the same with "a creational board" in line 1.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claims 1-3, 6-7 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Petrik (3,773,342).

Petrik in figures 1-5, disclose a creational board comprising for travelling across a surface. The recreational board has a top surface (12) and a bottom surface (14). The top surface supports a user positioned on the recreational board and the bottom surface contacting the surface on which the board travels. The board being shaped so that a front portion of the board is narrower than a rear portion of the board, wherein the bottom surface includes a plurality of grooves (notice that surfaces between ribs 22, 24, 26 can be considered grooves) that extend forwardly from a central zone on the bottom surface to adjacent a side edge of the bottom surface.

Regarding claim 2, Petrik discloses the board that tapers from the rear portion of the board to front portion of the board.

Regarding claim 3, Petrik discloses the top surface of the board containing bindings or sockets (28, 30).

Regarding claim 4, Petrik discloses board having two bindings.

Regarding claim 6, Petrik discloses the bottom surface that is convex.

Regarding claim 7, Petrik discloses the front portion and rear portion that are turned upwardly.

Regarding claim 11, Petrik discloses the recreational board that is a snowboard, sand board, water board or air board.

7. Claims 1-7 and 11 are alternatively rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Taylor (6,533,625).

Taylor in figures 1-5, disclose a recreational board comprising for travelling across a surface. The recreational board has a top surface (24) and a bottom surface (26). The top surface supports a user positioned on the recreational board and the bottom surface contacting the surface on which the board travels. The board being shaped so that a front portion of the board is narrower than a rear portion of the board, wherein the bottom surface includes a plurality of grooves (60, 62) that extend forwardly from a central zone on the bottom surface to adjacent a side edge of the bottom surface.

Regarding claim 2, Taylor discloses the board that tapers from the rear portion of the board to front portion of the board.

Regarding claim 3, Taylor discloses the top surface of the board containing bindings (46, 52).

Regarding claim 4, Taylor discloses board having two bindings.

Regarding claim 5, Taylor discloses a rear binding, which is inclined with respect to the top surface of the board (see figure 2).

Regarding claim 6, Taylor discloses the bottom surface that is convex.

Regarding claim 7, Taylor discloses the front portion and rear portion that are turned upwardly.

Regarding claim 11, Taylor discloses the recreational board that is a snowboard, sand board, water board or air board.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

9. Claims 8-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Taylor (6,533,625) as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Servant (6,254,111).

Taylor discloses the creation board, but fails to show a brake.

Servant in figures 3-4, teaches a snowboard having brakes (48, 50, 54). The brakes include at least one channel in between or a plurality of channels. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the creation board of Taylor with the snowboard having a brake as taught by Servant in order to stop the creation board or control a speed of the creation board.

Conclusion

10. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Dahl discloses a steerable toboggan, Miller discloses a ski provided with tracking means.
